LINCOLN MEMORIAL STARTED

Ground Broken Today at Washington For Erection of $2,000,000 Structure

NO FORMAL CEREMONIES

Were Connected with Beginning of Work and They Will Go Over Until Laying of the Cornerstone at Later Date.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, Feb. 12.—Ground was broken today, the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, for the Lincoln Memorial, a $2,000,000 structure, the purpose of whose designers is that it shall stand through time as an example of the best in architecture and sculpture that this age could produce.

There was no formal ceremony connected with the beginning of the work for the reason that there was not sufficient time between the completion of the details of signing the contracts and the birthday anniversary of the martyred president to arrange a program of sufficient excellence to mark the opening of a work of such magnitude and sentimental importance. So it was decided to let the ceremonies go over until the laying of the corner stone. Former President Taft, chairman of the Lincoln Memorial Commission, did not come to the city to see the work start.

The site for the memorial is in Potomac Park on an "axis," planned more than a century ago, at one end of which is the Capitol, the monument of the government; and at the other, more than a mile to the west, the Washington Monument.

Still farther to the west will be the Lincoln Memorial, where it will have a relation with the Capitol and the Washington Monument that would be impossible on any other site, and will be closely related also with Arlington Cemetery where those who fought for the Union are buried. It is planned to have, some day, a memorial bridge linking the Lincoln Memorial with Arlington.

The design of the memorial is the work of Henry Bacon, a New York architect, approved by the Memorial Commission. His idea was that the memorial to Lincoln should be composed of four features—a statue of the man, a memorial of his Gettysburg speech, a memorial of his second inaugural address, and a symbol of the United States which he preserved. Each feature will be related to the others by means of designs and position and each will be so arranged that it will become an integral part of the whole in order to obtain unity and simplicity in the monument. Each feature is meant to impress the beholder with its greatest force and this is sought to accomplish by means of isolation, though not to the extent of impairing the relation of each feature to the others.

GAD ZOOKS! GAS COMPANY ASKS STATE PROBE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Cincinnati, Feb. 12.—The Cincinnati Gas and Electric company today addressed a communication to the state public utilities commission at Columbus, asking that the commission investigate the service of the company as rendered to this city. The letter points out that there appears to be a general complaint in this city that the gas bills are high while the quality of gas given by the company is low. It goes on further to say that while the company believes it is fully complying with its franchise, yet an investigation by the state body would satisfy all parties. The company states that it can find no fault, but would welcome any information that the public utilities commission might be able to give in after an investigation.

GUNMEN HELD UP 5 PERSONS EARLY TODAY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) New York, Feb. 12.—Six gunmen early today held up five men and a woman in a Bronx street car, near the Bowery, relieving their victims of a large sum of money, rings and jewelry from the woman. Antonio Celento, who resisted the gangsters, was stabbed in the hip and side. His condition is serious.

Attorney General Hogan Raps Criticism of Bench; Mr. Diser Condemns Many Selfish Laws

Attorney General Timothy S. Hogan in an address before the Licking County Bar association Wednesday night, deplored the criticism of the courts and lawyers, condemned unjust criticism on the part of editorial writers who do not make a study of the law or law-making, and generally lauded the legal profession as the most noble profession practiced by man. While the attorney general was defending the law, Representative Oscar E. Diser of Mahoning county, took a rap at the method of law-making, and declared that too often selfish interests of law-makers prompted them to pass laws which were not of benefit to all the people. Both these distinguished gentlemen were guests at the annual banquet of the Licking County Bar association held in the large dining room of Hotel Warden.

The event honored Judge Charles H. Kibler, nestor of the Licking county bar, a barrister and jurist honored and revered by every member of the legal profession in Licking county. Judge Kibler could not be present as he is spending the winter in the South, but he sent greetings to his friends, wishing them happiness and prosperity.

NEW ENGLAND VISITED BY A COLD WAVE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Boston, Feb. 12.—The cold wave has enveloped all of New England, with below zero temperatures.

It was 24 below zero at Northfield, Vermont, and 20 below at Eastport, Maine. The cold was accompanied by a stinging nor'wester, which reached the proportions of a gale along the coast with hourly velocity of 50 miles an hour at Highland Light, Mass., 40 miles from Nantucket and 46 miles at Block Island. The ocean was covered with mist and observation off shore was obscured.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) New York, Feb. 12.—The official mercury in New York, driven far downward in the second severe cold snap of the winter, dipped one below zero at 7 a. m. today and was still at the zero mark at 10 o'clock. (Official thermometers in the suburbs reached 8 below during the early morning. Thousands of the poor, men, women and children, sought shelter in the municipal lodging houses. A dense vapor, amounting almost to a fog, hung over the waters in and about the city. The weather bureau prediction was that the cold spell would continue throughout the day.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Middletown, N. Y., Feb. 12.—Reports from several sections of Orange county show that the temperature this morning was the lowest in many years. From several points 28 degrees below zero was reported.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Albany, N. Y., Feb. 12.—All cold weather records for the winter were broken here today when the mercury dropped to 16 below zero. Trains from the west were from one to six hours late and telephone and telegraph communication was interrupted. Additional suffering was caused by a high wind.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Jamestown, N. Y., Feb. 12.—The lowest temperature recorded in ten years was reported in western New York today when the mercury at several points registered 34 below zero.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Rome, N. Y., Feb. 12.—The mercury dropped to thirty below zero here today. Trains are getting delayed owing to the difficulty of producing steam in the locomotives.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Little Falls, N. Y., Feb. 12.—This was the coldest day of the year. The thermometer at several nearby points registered 26 below zero. The government thermometer in this city stood at 24 below. At Pompey, N. Y., the temperature reached 27 below. Other towns in Central New York reported temperatures between 18 and 25 below.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Winsted, Conn., Feb. 12.—With the temperature 20 below zero, six families were driven from their homes in scanty attire when fire destroyed a large frame apartment house here.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Detroit, Mich., Feb. 12.—Temperatures ranging from 15 to 26 degrees below zero were reported here today from cities scattered throughout Michigan. Several fires in various parts of the state totalled losses of more than $50,000. The most serious fire broke out early today in the business district ings to his friends, wishing them happiness and prosperity. It was nearly 8 o'clock when the guests were seated and the serving of the excellent menu was begun. Hon. Carl Norpell, president of the Bar association, presided as toast master, and between courses he called on various members of the bar for short addresses. Hon. Edward Kibler, Sr., Hon. B. G. Smythe and S. L. James were among those who made short talks.

Mr. Kibler, the first to be called upon, was taken somewhat by surprise, as it had not been anticipated that there would be other addresses than those listed on the program of toasts. He acknowledged the honor of being asked to speak but begged to be spared from "inflicting too much Kibler" on those assembled.

Mr. Smythe declared that he had hoped some day to indulge in some reminiscences of his connection with the practice of law in Newark, but that in the few minutes allotted to him he couldn't make even a good start. He referred to the honored, but absent guest and paid a pretty tribute to Judge Kibler.

of Port Huron. For a time the south side section of the city was threatened. The total loss was estimated at $250,000. Five buildings including the opera house were destroyed.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Williamsport, Pa., Feb. 12.—Northern Pennsylvania shivered in the grip of a sudden cold wave today. The minimum temperature in the city was seven degrees below zero. Thirty degrees below was reported at Ellenton.

In and around Hazelton the high point in the anthracite coal region the mercury ranged from 15 to 22 below zero.

IS CHARGED WITH MURDER OF WOMAN IN CHICAGO HOTEL

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Chicago, Feb. 12.—Snow and zero temperatures marked Lincoln's birthday here. Nearly an inch of snow fell during the night and for the third time this winter an army of unemployed was enlisted to clear the streets.

A woman with whom Koettlers had been in partnership in the operation of a lodging house, revealed his identity to the police.

The man admitted that he was Koettlers but denied that he was concerned in the murder.

"HANDSOME JACK" WAS SOUBRIQUET OF THE ACCUSED

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Chicago, Feb. 12.—An immediate effort will be made to return Koettlers to Chicago and have him placed on trial for the murder of Mrs. Kraft, the police said today. Unconscious and in a dying condition, Mrs. Kraft was found in her hotel room on November 14, 1912, by a chambermaid. She died soon after being removed to the county hospital. Several wounds were on the back of her head.

She was reputed to be wealthy and robbery was believed to have been the motive of the crime. Several days before the murder Koettlers, who was known as "Handsome Jack," and Mrs. Kraft registered at the hotel as husband and wife. Both were supposed to have come from Cincinnati.

HAD PROPERTY IN CINCINNATI

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Cincinnati, Feb. 12.—Mrs. Kraft was a widow sixty years old when she was killed. She had considerable property.

Mrs. Kraft, it is claimed, frequently loaned money to Koettlers. Finally his request for a loan led to a quarrel and he went to Chicago. After a few days he sent for Mrs. Kraft. She left at once to meet him. A week after her death Cincinnati detectives went to Chicago and identified her body at the county morgue. Koettlers was well known here.

CHINESE WOMAN ARRESTED ON A MURDER CHARGE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Chicago, Feb. 12.—Mrs. O. Sun, a Chinese woman, was arrested here today in connection with a murder of a Chinese, whose dismembered body was found in a trunk a year ago in Seattle, Wash. The trunk was shipped from Pendleton, Ore. Mrs. Sun's husband was arrested in Pendleton, but she had disappeared.

TROOPERS SEARCH FOR MEXICANS

Who Violated Neutrality Laws By Carrying Supplies From the United States

WOMAN DISCOVERS PLOT

Saw Autos Laden With Boxes Covered With Canvas Heading for the River—Sends Alarm to American Commander.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) El Paso, Texas, Feb. 12.—Troopers of the United States at dawn today resumed search for the Mexicans who, last night headed across the Rio Grande from the American side, carrying arms and supplies in violation of the neutrality laws, to join the federal forces at some point unknown, or to harass the rebel garrison at Juarez across the river from El Paso.

So far as the American cavalry officers could learn in the course of the night, the plot was to capture a corral of horses and saddles at Ysleta, 13 miles east of here and about a mile from the river bank and rush them across.

In some way this part of the plan miscarried, for the rush to the other side, as reported by citizens of Ysleta, was precipitated before many if any of the horses could be stolen.

The alarm reached General Hugh L. Scott, in command at Fort Bliss, about 10 o'clock last night. Ranchers and others whose homes are scattered along the road near Ysleta telephoned into the city to find out the cause of an unusual number of automobiles some of which were covered with canvas and apparently carried boxes.

Count of the number of these varied from ten to fifty, but inquiry at Ysleta early in the morning indicated that there were more than a hundred.

Mrs. Mary O'Neill, the night telephone operator at Ysleta, saw six of them, seemingly laden with boxes under their canvas covers, turn toward the river. They were without lights and she gave it as her opinion, based on knowledge of the roads and the lay of the land generally, that the machines disappeared in some of the numerous corrals in Ysleta and were there unloaded.

Five of them she saw later, this morning, when with lights out and their loads discharged they suddenly reappeared and dashed toward El Paso.

The only soldier so far known to have seen any of the alleged Huerta recruits was Corporal Kaufman, of Troop A., 15th cavalry. The corporal had been stationed at a village east of Ysleta and when the alarm sounded he was dispatched (Continued on Page 9, Col. 4.)

Mr. and Mrs. Brown & Co.

By MOSS.

WE know a man who entered into a partnership with his wife for the purpose of saving as much money as possible each year through the medium of the ads. in this paper.

They worked it like this: Mr. Brown—of course, that's not his real name, for he won't allow us to use it—went through the paper, carefully reading all the ads which he thought might benefit him. He made notes of things on sale, keeping his eye not only open for the TIME BEING, but for the FUTURE.

He knew not only where to get good coffee at a reasonable price, but he knew where to get the best garden rake or the best suit of clothes when he needed it. He made his AD READING a part of his BUSINESS.

Mrs. Brown did the same thing in her own way, of course, paying most attention to home providing and home improving. They checked up regularly, compared notes, talked everything over and bought INTELLIGENTLY. At the end of the year they figured out just what they had saved by watching the ads. That money was already in the bank, for they had been able to save just that much more above their expenses.

Rather a WIRE partnership. WHY NOT TRY IT?

Progressives From All Over Ohio Will Open the State Campaign at Lima

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Lima, O., Feb. 12.—Progressives from all parts of Ohio will open the Progressive state campaign at a banquet here tonight. The speakers will include A. L. Garford, of Elyria, who was a candidate for governor on the Progressive ticket two years ago; James R. Tabor, of Belmont county, candidate for lieutenant governor on the Progressive ticket two years ago.

CONTEST INTEREST IS GROWING VERY WARM

Not Only the Plutocrats but Everybody Else Is Cutting Coupons Now and All Like It

THE WHOLE TOWN IS TALKING PICTURES

People Have Found That It's Fun to Study the Illustrations and They are All Deeply Interested in That Splendid List of Prizes to Be Awarded 100 Winners.

Though the Booklovers' Contest has just started, the whole town is already talking about the Advocate pictures. Though only the third picture appears in today's paper, contest interest is fever hot and the interest is increasing and spreading every hour.

The people have found it is fun to study the pictures and to discuss among themselves the probable answers and at the same time they are getting familiar with the tempting list of prizes that will be given the winners.

The prizes number 100 or more—the Advocate isn't through with the prize list yet and it hasn't definitely told what is to be done, except to say that the prizes will exceed $3000 in value and to enumerate a large number of them—but this much is certain—The Advocate will not do less than it promises.

The prize list is so big, its items supply so many needs and suit so many tastes that it is not surprising that the whole community is intensely interested.

Follow the pictures day by day as thousands are now doing and you will readily see that the solution of the pictures will not be hard but will afford you profitable amusement and incidentally will acquaint you with books that everyone should know.

One hint in season, however, guessing—mere blind "taking a chance" at the title is NOT going to win the big prizes in this contest. Common sense, shrewd thinking, keen wits are at a premium. Look at today's picture and you will realize the truth of this statement.

The first prize is $500 in Uncle Sam's gold. Other splendid prizes so far announced are a diamond ring, a Globe Wernicke bookcase, a violin, a sewing machine, two build-

BLIZZARD IS COMING SAYS WEATHER MAN

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, Feb. 12.—The coldest weather of the season—in some localities the coldest in many years—enveloped the entire east today and is expected to be succeeded by a snowstorm from Texas during the next 24 hours. Real winter weather is with the snowstorm, the weather bureau said today and it was predicted that snow would be falling over the middle Atlantic and southern New England states by tonight or tomorrow morning, if nothing interrupts the Texas blizzard on its way.

The weather bureau issued a special forecast heralding the coming of the storm. More drops in the already falling mercury will attend it from New England westward to the upper Mississippi valley. Brisk northerly winds are waiting the new weather hurriedly on its way.

error on the Progressive ticket two years ago. It is expected that the candidacies of Mr. Garford for the nomination for United States senator, and of Mr. Garfield for the nomination for governor will be formally announced at the gathering. Mr. Tabor may also announce that he is a candidate for secretary of state.

The affair was originally planned as a rally of Progressives of northwestern Ohio in honor of Abraham Lincoln, but the committee in charge decided to broaden its scope so as to include all of Ohio.

Mansfield, O., Feb. 12.—Mrs. Adeline McBride, 66 years old, was cremated when her dress caught fire while she was starting the breakfast fire at her home this morning and her son, Clifton McBride, was seriously burned when he attempted to rescue her. McBride's wife and two children, in their night clothes leaped from a second story window into the arms of James Dolittle, a milkman on his morning rounds. The house was destroyed.

The elder Mrs. McBride's screams awakened her son and he rushed into the kitchen to find his mother's clothing in flames. The flames had already set fire to the woodwork and the smoke and flames were pouring upstairs, shutting off escape for the young Mrs. McBride and her two children, William 7, and Frances 9.

Dolittle who was just leaving his wagon to make a delivery at the house heard their screams and ran up, cautioning them not to jump. Before he had scarcely spoken Frances leaped and he caught her. Then her brother jumped into his arms. Mrs. McBride leaped. Her weight sent Dolittle sprawling but neither was injured.

In the meantime the fire department had been summoned and an ambulance arrived. Neighbors helped drag Mr. McBride and his mother from the burning building. Mrs. McBride, the elder, was rushed to a hospital but died on the way. McBride's condition is serious.

TO APPROPRIATE OVER $100,000 FOR OHIO SCHOOLS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Columbus, Feb. 12.—More than $100,000 will be appropriated by the general assembly next week to take care of the state's share of the initial cost of school supervision under the new school program. Since nobody can afford just when the state will be called upon to pay the appropriation will have to be a matter of guesswork according to Chairman Cowan of the House finance committee, which prepared the appropriation bill. The appropriation for the school supervision will be contained in the sundry appropriation bill, upon which the chairman of the committee is now working. Mr. Cowan also is working on an authorized deficiency appropriation bill, and an unauthorized deficiency appropriation bill. These with the sundry bill will be introduced next Monday.

2025 RELEASE UNDER E.O. 14176

CLAIM DAMAGES FOR CHANGING ROAD'S GRADE

Alleged Property Was Damaged But Commissioners State No Grade Had Ever Been Established

The cases of John Goss, et. al. and Jennie Carson, et. al., vs. the Board of County Commissioners will be heard by the court of Common Pleas on a demurrer to the petitions filed by J. Howard Jones, prosecuting attorney, representing the County Commissioners. The plaintiffs bring the actions to recover damages against the Commissioners for changing the grade of the road in front of the premises of the plaintiffs. They say that they built their houses on their premises, and that after the houses were constructed, the grade of the road was changed in front of their property, damaging them as claimed in the petitions.

Prosecutor Jones, on behalf of the Commissioners, claims that no grade had ever been established; that the plaintiffs built their houses without reference to any grade except the grade of the old road then existing, and that no damages have occurred to plaintiffs on account of which they could recover by reason of the road improvement which has now been constructed.

Leave was given the Prosecutor to file a demurrer to the petitions on the ground that no cause of action exists in favor of the plaintiffs.

In the case of the State of Ohio vs. Frank Hankins, indicted for rape, the court appointed C. W. Montgomery as counsel to represent the defendant.

Clyde M. Hare vs. Wm. A. Pungs, heretofore assigned for trial Friday of this week: Trial passed, to be re-assigned after criminal court. Plaintiff brings the suit to recover on a contract for machinery sold.

The court heard the arguments of counsel and the case was submitted, in the suit brought by H. H. Baird vs. Jewett Car Co., in which plaintiff seeks to recover the possession of certain real estate in the West End of this city.

The jurors were excused until Monday morning next.

WADDELL ADMITS HE'S DOWN AND OUT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Superior, Wis., Feb. 12.—"Rube" Waddell, the great lefthander who in his day was one of the best pitchers that ever worked in the major leagues, will never pitch another game. The admission comes from Rube himself who has returned his unsigned contract to "Kid" Taylor of Superior, who is manager of the Virginia, Minnesota club in the Northern league. Waddell came to Virginia last year from Minneapolis and was reserved for this season.

"I am sending back the contract unsigned," writes Rube from Boerne, Texas. "I would like to play but never could get in shape. I might as well admit the truth about myself. I am in hopeless shape. I have lost 54 pounds since I was up north. I now weigh only 151. I am very weak and cannot walk twenty feet. I am writing this in bed."

"I have a nurse with me all the time and a doctor comes to see me three times a week. He says I probably will be better when warmer weather comes."

—AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME

Soda Relieves Indigestion or Acid Stomach

Few stomach sufferers know that indigestion, sourness and gases are not caused by a lack of digestive juices, but result always from acidity, meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, which retards digestion and promotes food fermentation. Everything eaten sours in the stomach like garbage sours in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we get a heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we belch gas and eructate food or have heartburn, water-brash, bloating and nausea.

A well-known authority states that a 10 grain Sodagen tablet taken any time, followed by a tumbler of water, instantly neutralizes these stomach acids; stops fermentation, absorbs the gases and sweetens the entire digestive tract. He says any pharmacist can supply a package of 10 grain Sodagen tablets as they are constantly prescribed for stomach acidity because of their harmlessness to the digestive organs, being composed of Soda, Calcium Carbonate and Magnesia U. ## COLLYER'S DAILY SPORTS FEATURE

By a Dupey Guy.

(All rights reserved by Collyer's News Bureau.)

Chicago, Feb. 12.—Bender, the great Carlisle chief and Athletic genius, is one of the most genuinely genuine Indians that you ever saw.

He is one of the kind of dusky Redskins that you read about. He'd probably go out and tomahawk a few of Ban Johnson's umpires if he wasn't certain that Ban would immediately replace them.

And Bender never showed more clearly that he was all Indian than he did when the Athletics were South on their last training trip.

They were down in the Sunny South when some sort of a pain struck Bender. The sharps at Carlisle would probably have diagnosed it as a case of too much eats, or a touch of malaria or some ailment likely to yield to treatment. But Bender didn't.

"Much pain," said he. Of course Connie Mack and the other members of the world's champions worried about him. Physicians were called in to look the big chief over and most of them left doses of medicine.

"How are you feeling," queried his pals.

"Sure too bad," commiserated other pals.

"Hoodoo beginning to get in its work early," commented others.

One morning early Bender was missing. The alarm was sounded and every Philadelphia athletic went in search.

Two days passed but yet no sign of the missing Indian. The third day was dawning when one member happened to look into a deserted room and saw a peculiar object squatting upon the bed. It was almost entirely concealed in a blanket. Something resembled a head, crowned with black hair, could be seen.

"It's Bender," shouted the athlete, and called all of his pals.

They forced the door and there was the pitcher. He had removed all the bed-clothing save the blanket. He had wrapped himself in this and sought solitude.

"Why did you leave us," demanded his companions.

"Indian don't like medicine. Don't like loud talk when he is sick. Indian wants to be alone," he grunted.

It was the Indian in the Indian. When the Carlisle son of the forest suffered it was with the stoicism of the genuinely genuine Indian.

TESTIFIES IN SUIT AGAINST BLIND SENATOR

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Oklahoma City, Feb. 12.—Mrs. Minnie Bond, who is suing United States Senator Thomas P. Gore for $50,000 damages growing out of an alleged assault committed in a Washington hotel, took the witness stand today and told her version of her meeting with Senator Gore in Washington. The courtroom was crowded, the audience including many women.

Despite the ruling of Judge Clark yesterday that evidence as to incidents in the past life of either of the litigants was irrelevant Attorney Giddings, representing Mrs. Bond offered to let all the evidence as to Mrs. Bond's character go before the jury without objection provided the defense would not object to evidence offered against the character of Senator Gore. Counsel for the defense did not reply to the proposition.

In telling of her story of the alleged assault, Mrs. Bond was composed throughout. She first met the senator in 1909, she said, and again a short time later at a reception in Oklahoma City. At this latter meeting she discussed the appointment of her husband, Julian Bond, to the position of internal revenue collector. At that time she said, the senator talked favorably of the appointment.

The witness then related how she went to Washington in March 1913. At a reception tendered by Mr. and Mrs. Gore to their Oklahoma visitors she again broached the subject of the appointment and the senator asked her to come to his office, according to the testimony.

Reaching the time of the alleged assault the witness said she had telephoned Senator Gore to come to her hotel, saying she did not like to wait in his office where there were so many men. When the senator arrived she went with him to a room occupied by James Jacobs of Oklahoma. In their talk she said, the senator asked many personal questions, made suggestions and tried to take her hand.

"I told him I was a different kind of a woman from those he had been associating with," testified Mrs. Bond.

She alleged that the senator took hold of her hand and tried to pull her towards him and that her glasses were broken in the struggle clutching her in the face.

When she pushed her over on the bed, the bed covering was stained with blood in several places.

At this juncture, the witness said, T. E. Robertson of Oklahoma, entered the room, together with Jacobs and Kirby Fitzpatrick and she rushed to the toilet to wash the blood stains from her hands and face. She declared the senator followed her and told her to tell the men present that there was nothing wrong.

Mrs. Bond was expected to remain on the witness stand throughout the day's session.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

Oklahoma City, Feb. 12.—Mrs. Minnie E. Bond of Oklahoma City today gave her version in district court here of what occurred at a Washington hotel March 24 last, when, it is alleged, she was attacked by United States Senator Thomas Gore of Oklahoma. Mrs. Bond is seeking to recover $50,000 in damages from the senator.

Mrs. Bond charged that she was seized by Senator Gore while discussing with him, in a room at the hotel, the prospects of her husband, Julian Bond, securing appointment to a federal position. She declared that she met the senator at his suggestion.

The trial commenced yesterday. A jury was obtained after fifty-six talesmen had been examined. Against the contention of the plaintiff, counsel for Senator Gore charged in the open court the suit was a result of a political conspiracy, that it was the senator who was seized and that he met Mrs. Bond at her request.

Twelve witnesses have been summoned by the defense and about the same number by the plaintiff. Of the latter T. E. Robertson, James Jacobs and Kirby Fitzpatrick, all of Oklahoma, will be called as eye witnesses to the alleged occurrence. The meeting between Mrs. Bond and the senator was in Jacob's apartments which it is explained, were used because Mrs. Bond's room had not been put in order.

The majority of the jury are farmers and all comparatively young men. In politics six declared themselves to be Democrats, five members of the Progressive party and one a Socialist.

Before court adjourned yesterday, District Judge Clark ruled that only the present reputations of the parties to the suit would be considered. Under this ruling a number of depositions secured by both sides will be excluded.

FEDS WON'T BID FOR SERVICES OF JOHNNY EVERS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

New York, Feb. 12.—A New angle developed in the baseball situation here today when the Federal League promoters announced that they would not bid for the services of Johnny Evers, deposed manager of the Chicago National League Club. Charles H. Weegham, the leading backer of the Federal League stated that his organization considered Evers under contract with the National League and conforming with the new league's announced policy, would not make an effort to obtain Evers.

Weegham further stated that the fact that Joe Tinker had arrived here from Chicago in time for an early morning conference with President Gilmore and himself had no bearing on the Evers situation.

"Tinker came to New York," said Weegham, "at my telegraphic request, bringing some important papers which were needed. He will also endeavor to sign several players with whom we have been negotiating. Evers is not among them and will not be approached. We are agreed that he is under contract and the property of the National League."

Evers failed to appear in the gathering of magnates, players and other followers of baseball. He left his hotel early in the forenoon and could not be located in the usual gathering places. President Gaffney of the Boston Nationals reported that he could not find Evers although he had been on the outlook for him. The National league and its board of directors were late in entering the executive session and the hour for holding the meeting of the national commission was delayed until 2 p. m.

What a Republican Found

The manager of the press bureau of the reactionary Republican state executive committee, in his current letter, admits that he made an investigation of new state commissions created during his administration. Absolutely nothing was ever reported or forwarded to the G. O. P. press regarding the discoveries. Here is what was found and was, for manifest reasons, concealed:

Of the commissions created, only four are permanent ones—the state liquor license and civil service bodies which were ordered created by the constitutional amendments adopted by the people themselves, not the Governor or legislature; the agricultural and the industrial commissions. The others were temporary ones for investigation and have been terminated.

It was discovered that, as a result cultural commission stopped the old wasteful and inefficient policy of permitting eight independent departments of state to engage in agricultural activities and consolidated the eight into a single department, where there is both economy and efficiency.

It was discovered that, as a result of these consolidations and other retrenchments, Governor James M. Cox closed the first year of his administration with a balance of $900,000 to the credit of the people. The individual taxpayers were not called upon to pay a single penny toward the support of the state government, and there was no change made in the corporation taxes which supplied the necessary funds.

Going a little further, it was discovered that the Warnes tax act abolished 4000 offices in 1914. These discoveries were enough to stop any reactionary Republican looking not for facts, but for something to throw at Democrats.

The only thing that remains as visible evidence of the interest earned on deposits of the state treasury balance during the last four years that Republicans ruled the state treasury are two skyscrapers in Columbus.

Fishing.

The winter wanes and soon the rains of Spring will start the grasses, and trees will bud and streams in flood will thunder down the passes. Oh, Spring, sweet Spring, you dear old thing, for which all men are wishing, when we can drill o'er vale and hill, to spend the long day fishing! Spring comes apace and soon the face of earth will smile and chuckle, and dames will say to husbands say, "To work get down and buckle!" We greet with roars the strident of chimes, with pswhang and with pishing! We take a pole to some deep hole and spend the long day fishing! Spring is the time when people climb from age clear back to childhood, when each heart burns and throbs and yearns for open air and wildwood. Spring is the joy without alloy, the best the gods are dishing, when we can sneak down to the creek and spend the long day fishing!

We Shouldn't Worry About Monroe Doctrine

By HUNTINGTON WILSON, Assistant Secretary of State in Taft Administration

WE ought to be able to discriminate between the vastly different republics, and we ought not to overrate their solidarity and mutual affection. Granting the MONROE DOCTRINE TO BE OBSOLETE as a unilateral policy in the sphere of the "A B C countries," the opening of the Panama canal would be a curious occasion to consider the abandonment by the United States of its mandate in the Caribbean.

There is room indeed for mutually advantageous co-operation through commerce and otherwise. In spite of a great difference of temperament, international, like domestic, politics often makes strange bedfellows.

ONE MUST AGREE WITH PROFESSOR BINGHAM IN HIS DEPRECIATION OF CANT ABOUT SYMPATHY SO FAR AS RACIAL CHARACTERISTICS ARE CONCERNED AND ABOUT GEOGRAPHICAL PROXIMITY WITH THE DISTANT SOUTH. AS HE SAYS, KEY WEST IS NO NEARER RIO DE JANEIRO AND BUENOS AIRES THAN IS GIBRALTAR.

This suggests that Buenos Aires is not appreciably nearer the Caribbean than Key West is near to Buenos Aires and that by the same token it is quite as absurd for the Chilean, Brazilian and Argentinian to worry about American policy in the Caribbean as it would be for the UNITED STATES TO WORRY ABOUT THE MONROE DOCTRINE AT CAPE HORN.

Speech of Hon. W. A. Ashbrook On Good Roads Bill Delivered In House of Representatives

Cong. Wm. A. Ashbrook of the Seventeenth District, delivered an excellent speech on Rural Post Roads in the House of Representatives Saturday for which he has been highly commended having received numerous congratulatory telegrams and letters from all over the district. During the rendition of the speech the popular congressman was frequently interrupted by applause and at its conclusion a great number of his colleagues surrounded Mr. Ashbrook and congratulated him for the stand which he is taking on the Shackleford good-roads bill.

The Advocate is pleased to reproduce the speech of Mr. Ashbrook in full. He said:

Mr. Chairman, I am in hearty sympathy with the Shackleford good-roads bill and support it with great satisfaction. I vote for the Sherwood pension bill and the vote I expect to cast for the Shackleford good-roads bill will be the two votes of which I will be most proud as a member of this body.

Mr. Chairman, I have long been an advocate of good roads. I am not a recent convert. My record on this question is well known in my district, and especially in my home county. I have the good fortune to be possessed of a farm back in Ohio, and I am glad to say it is the farm upon which I was born, and still more pleased to say the farm upon which my father was born and has always resided. I want to give notice now that I expect to absent myself to attend the ninetieth birthday celebration of my good old father on that old Buckeye farm on the 19th day of this month. (Applause.) I am now paying special assessments on my farm for the three pikes, which I save my best influence to secure. I pay those taxes cheerfully because I am a believer in good roads and am willing to help pay the freight.

Ohio is giving much attention to the building of pikes and the improvement of the highways. Some portions of the State are now practically all piked. This bill, in my opinion, will be a great incentive to not only the people of my State, but to every other State. It is what the people have been demanding for years, and the people are at last getting recognition. Why this Government can appropriate thirty to forty million dollars annually for rivers and harbors, as it has been doing for many years, and then deny Federal aid for good roads on the grounds that it is unconstitutional I could never understand. If we have the right under our Constitution to appropriate for one purpose, then we have the right to appropriate for the other. The same argument is as good for one as it is for the other. More than 75 members have already spoken in favor of this bill during this general debate, and I am glad to say none of the constitutional experts have so far raised their voices in opposition on that ground. The light is breaking in at last.

This bill provides: That the Secretary of Agriculture, on behalf of the United States, may aid the States and the civil subdivisions thereof, in the construction and maintenance of rural post roads in any amount not exceeding $25,000,000 in any fiscal year; that the portion thereof which may be expended in any State in any fiscal year shall be determined upon the following basis, to wit: One-half in the proportion which the total population of such State bears to the total population of all of the States, as shown by the next preceding Federal census; and one-half in the proportion which the total number of miles of rural post roads in use in such State bears to the total number of miles of rural post roads in use in all of the States, as shown by the report of the Postmaster General at the close of the fiscal year.

Upon this basis Ohio will receive as her share of the appropriation $1,295,030. Ohio has 2,538 rural routes, with an average length of 23.80 miles, or an aggregate length of 60,406 miles. In addition there are 171 star routes, with an average length of 6.76 miles, or a total of 1,155 miles. The grand total is therefore 61,561 miles traversed by the rural and star routes in Ohio.

In all of the States there were in operation on December 1, 1913, 42,961 rural routes, with an aggregate length of 1,042,477 miles, or an average length of 24.27 miles for each route. At the same time there were 12,257 star routes, with an aggregate length of 155,477 miles, an average of 12.76 miles for each star route.

The estimated number of miles of highways in the United States is 2,250,000 miles, of which 416,888 miles are used as post roads. This bill divides these post roads into three classes, to wit: Class A. All waterbound macadam roads or roads with a more expensive or more durable surface. 32,585 miles. Class B. All roads built of gravel, shell, or proper combination of sand and clay. 161,750 miles. Class C. All improved earth roads with adequate side drains, compacted, with crown smooth surface and well maintained. 222,513 miles.

Class A will be entitled under this bill to $60 per mile per annum, class B to $50 per mile, and class C to $15 per mile. Objection has been made to this bill because the best improved roads are to receive the most money. I believe the bill is right. The people who have expended the most to improve their highways should receive more encouragement than the less improved roads. Federal aid along this line will be an incentive to build more of class A roads.

Mr. Chairman, this legislation in the interest of the class who contribute more to the support and prosperity of our country, than any other class and have received less—the farmer. Of the billion or more dollars appropriated annually by Congress very little of it filters back to the farmer. The establishment of rural delivery of mail I admit was a great boon to the farmer. But the city folks had long enjoyed this service, so why should not the country folks have it? They have been simply placed on equality. Besides, the Postal service is self-supporting; the people foot the bill for this service, and all should be treated alike.

Better roads mean cheaper transportation. Cheaper transportation means cheaper foodstuffs and living. The farmer feeds the people. What benefits the farmer benefits those who work in the factory, the shops, the thousands and tens of thousands who live in towns and cities. Why improve the rivers and harbors and not improve the great highways of the land over which must be transported the wheat, the corn, the cotton, the cattle and hogs, and every article we eat and wear? The government collects its revenues from all of the people and all of the people should receive the same fair consideration and return.

I voted for the tariff bill last summer, although I was not in full sympathy with some of its provisions. I voted for it because it had more good in it than bad. I could not afford to vote against an income tax. That provision alone meant more to the people than any injustice that may have existed. I either had to swallow it whole or reject it. My opinion was then, and is now, that the farmer was discriminated against. The Shackleford bill will be simply giving the farmer his just dues and will square the account in very decent fashion.

Besides, Mr. Chairman, when we pass this bill we will simply be redeeming a party pledge made in the Baltimore platform. We declared in favor of "national aid to State and local authorities in the construction and maintenance of post roads."

We have a President in the White House who proposes to see that the Democratic Party redeems all of its platform pledges. There is but one thing, therefore, for Congress to do, and that is to pass this bill. The only objection I have to the bill is that it does not carry a large appropriation. But I content myself with it as a starter. My prediction is that to the end of time every future Congress will appropriate for good roads and the amount will grow larger and larger. France, England, and Germany and other nations are far in the lead in good road building. There is no question in this country in which the people are so generally concerned as the improvement of our highways.

Why, then, should not this government be required to pay something toward the maintenance of the roads used every day by the Postal Service and interstate commerce?

Mr. Chairman, before concluding I want to say "honor to whom honor is due." Who is entitled to more credit than any dozen members of this Congress, yes, more possibly than all others combined for this $25,000,000 entering wedge of Federal aid for public highways—the chairman of the Committee on Roads, the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. Shackleford). It took a General Sherwood to get the pension bill through the Sixty-second Congress. It required a Dorsey W. Shackleford to get this good roads bill so near a law. The gentleman from Missouri (Mr. Shackleford) has long been the foremost advocate in Congress of this legislation. When the Committee on Roads was created at the beginning of this Congress, he voluntarily stepped out of the Ways and Means Committee with the full consciousness that in the Sixty-fourth Congress he was almost certain to become the chairman of the greatest of all committees—the Ways and Means Committee—and accepted the chairmanship of the new Committee on Roads with uncertain future. The gentleman from Missouri (Mr. Shackleford) preferred to be a "dirty-roads statesman" and give his energies to good roads rather than be chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. Every farmer, every advocate of good roads in our land should tip their hats to "good old Shuck" for the splendid service he has given the American people.

Mr. Chairman, I repeat that I will vote for this bill with great satisfaction and will vote for legislation of this kind every time I have an opportunity, and the good people back in the Seventeenth district of Ohio who are opposed to the Federal aid for public highways should vote for some one besides me to represent them here. (Applause.)

I have just received the following telegram, which I will insert in the Record, and is further evidence that I voice the sentiments of the people of my State:

Columbus, O., Feb. 7, 1914. Congressman William A. Ashbrook, Washington, D. C.: Having considered the various road bills that have been introduced in Congress, we believe that the Shackleford bill is the best suited to present conditions, and would respectfully and most urgently request that you cast your vote for the Shackleford bill in the House without any amendment. In making this request we are confident that we speak authoritatively for each and every good-roads enthusiast in Ohio, nearly all of whom are members of this federation. Ohio Good Roads Federation. Archibald H. Huston, Secretary.

Wisdom from Washington

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, Feb. 12. — [Special.] — Congress will have to work night and day if it is to get through by the 1st of July, although the congressional leaders have fixed the 1st of June as the probable date of adjournment.

President Wilson has expressed his confidence in the ability of congress to conclude its work in time for an early adjournment, although he has laid out a program of legislation which will mean busy times. The president knows how the currency bill was pushed by, although many men predicted that it would not be passed for several months. In order to accomplish this result the senate met at 10 o'clock in the morning and adjourned at 11 o'clock at night.

It must be remembered, however, that a great deal of outside pressure was exerted. There was an impending money panic, or at least a tightening of the money market, on account of the fear the banks expressed over what might happen in currency legislation. Everybody realized that it was necessary to have quick action on account of the financial conditions throughout the country.

They Wanted a Recess.
Then there was this further inducement: President Wilson had expressed the opinion, amounting to a command, that congress would not adjourn for the Christmas holidays until the currency bill was enacted into law. As usual, the senators consulted their convenience only. They wanted that holiday recess, and so they put on the pressure and passed the currency bill.

Panama Canal Tolls.
No matter what method may be adopted to repeal the free toll provision in the Panama canal law, it is bound to cause a lot of talk. The easiest way is to pass a simple little bill providing that the exemption shall not take effect until after there has been some sort of diplomatic agreement between the United States and Great Britain. The hardest way will be to repeal outright the provision exempting American coastwise shipping from the charges of tolls when passing through the canal. Congress will be compelled to revise itself, and the Democratic platform adopted at Baltimore specifically declared in favor of free shipment for the American coastwise trade.

It is another evidence of the boldness of President Wilson in absolutely repudiating that plank in the platform and announcing that he intends to secure the repeal of the legislation in this congress.

Increase For the Navy.
The navy is assured of two battleships and three or four vice admirals. For years the two battleship program prevailed during Roosevelt's administration. Roosevelt wanted a program of four battleships a year, but was forced to a compromise of two each year. Democrats when they took control of the house cut the naval program down to one battleship each year. As Secretary Daniels, backed by President Wilson, has declared in favor of two battleships, the present congress is almost sure to adopt that plan.

For years a Republican administration and a Republican congress were unable to get even two vice admirals for the navy, although it was conceded that there should be officers of that rank to command the different fleets. It is probable now that four or five vice admirals may be provided, one for each important fleet.

PRICE-BUTLER.

Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, Dr. Sparks solemnized the marriage of Mr. Guy H. Price and Miss Margaret E. Butler. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. Charles Price, a well known farmer residing near Vanatta, and his bride is the daughter of Mr. Howard Butler, living in the same vicinity. They are most excellent young people and have a wide circle of friends, who will be glad to extend best wishes. They will reside on a farm near Vanatta.

The meeting of the Photozeteen club on Saturday will be featured by a two act play "When Women Vote," followed by the annual winter picnic of the club. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. R. Rogers in North Fourth street.

The cast of characters has been arranged for the play as follows: Mrs. Jamison (queen of the clubs and apostle of suffrage)—Mrs. Coulter.

Helen (Mrs. Jamison's daughter, sentimental 17)—Thora McDonough. Mrs. Delano (wealthy lady, home-lesser from choice)—Ada Simms.

Mrs. Brownell (mother of six)—Mrs. L. R. James.

Hannah (New England help)—Mrs. N. H. Swartz.

Flowers in a medley of color and variety adorned the home of Mrs. Joseph Sprague in North First street on Wednesday afternoon when she entertained a number of friends with a bridge party. The game concluded with the favor awards being made to Mrs. Charles Critchfield of Mt. Vernon and Miss Nina Webb. Dinner was served at the conclusion of the game to the guests who were seated at eight small tables.

Rev. Father B. M. O'Boylan, pastor of St. Francis de Sales church entertained the members of the choir of the church with a banquet at the Kuster Hotel on Tuesday evening.

The guests were received in the parlors and the dining room was opened at 7:30 for the banquet. The tables were beautifully arranged with cut glass candelabra the candles being shaded with red canopies, and the center was filled with clusters of red carnations and fern leaves. The menus were cleverly arranged, being ornamented with miniature choir boys. Caterer J. S. Kuster arranged the following delicious dinner:

Consomme Royal Radishes
Pickles Onions
Baked Kenebec Salmon
Parisienne Potatoes
Chicken a la King
French Peas Creamed Potatoes
Broiled Oysters on Toast
Combination Fruit Salad
Ice Cream Cake
Coffee Tea Milk

Following the menu Rev. Father O'Boylan, acting as toastmaster, gave a short talk and called upon Rev. Father Charles Watterson, pastor of the Blessed Sacrament church, and Rev. Father O'Brien of Utica, and upon the choir director, Mr. Edward Gruber.

All spoke of the work of the choir and following the talks a songfest was enjoyed. The quartet gave a number of delightful selections and Theodore Kemp sang the Stein Song, with the choir singing the chorus. He also sang "O Perfect Day." Mr. Dan Johns sang "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold" in a very pleasing way and was followed by Mr. Frank

CURES COLDS, COUGH AND SORE THROAT

Mothers Should Try This Simple, Sensible Treatment For Croupy Children.

The old method of dosing the stomach to cure colds and croup is wrong and harmful.

When your child is cross, feverish and full of cold, apply a small quantity of Nostriola Balm to the nostrils, and on chest and throat—also under arm pits and on soles of feet. This simple common-sense treatment will clear the head and open the air passages almost instantly, stop sneezing, running of the nose and quickly change a half-sick, fretful child into a happy playful one.

Many mothers now use the Nostriola treatment and nothing else to keep the children free from colds and croup.

You won't believe the good results this simple treatment will bring until you make the test. Get a 25c tube of Nostriola of your druggist today, and you'll wish you had tried it sooner.

Madame Isbell's Beauty Lessons

LESSON I—PART III.

The Care of the Skin.
The best time to give the face a special treatment is before retiring, and the face should always be thoroughly cleansed at that time, whether any special treatment is given or not. Massage is not always practical at night, but if it is possible, it has a double value, besides clearing the skin, it will slowly absorb the massage cream and the improvement that the manipulation effected will be preserved during sleep.

Begin the evening toilet by thoroughly cleaning, then wash with the cleansing cream, using for this purpose squares of cheesecloth that have been soaked in the cream. Rub the face with the face cloth, or better still, pieces of old linen. After this rub the face and neck thoroughly in lukewarm water. Do not use hot water unless you are preparing the face for a blackhead treatment. Hot water tends to wrinkle the skin; the only advantage in it is that it opens the pores and the lukewarm water will do this sufficiently for an ordinary massage.

Pat the skin dry and then gently apply the massage cream, rubbing against the lines that are forming, and very gently patting in the cream about the eyes. If the skin is dry, some of the cream may be left on all night. If the skin is oily, or if there is any tendency towards pimples or blackheads, wipe all the cream from the face with a slightly damp cloth. In the morning wash the face and neck with cold water.

Use of Washcloths and Brushes.
Never use a towel or washcloth on the face that is not perfectly clean. Never use anything except a soft face towel on the face and neck. Keep the Turkish towels for the body bath. Complexion brushes are sometimes useful for special treatments, but they fall to do good and may work much harm if they are not perfectly clean. Sponges have a curious attraction for dirt and soap and if they are used in the general toilet they should be washed every day and dried in the sun. During the day the face rarely requires a second thorough cleansing; bathing it and rubbing it gently with a soft wet cloth is sufficient. If it is not sufficient use the face cream again with a clean, damp cloth.

Is Soap Ever to Be Used?

A pupil writes asking if I believe soap should ever be used on the face of an adult. My answer is that, as a rule, it should not be used on the face, but it is not to be used on a skin inclined to be dry or to wrinkle. A cleansing cream should be used instead.

A pure soap, rinsed well from the face, will not harm a normal skin, but it is not to be used daily. An oily skin, however, especially if there is any inclination to acne, will be benefited by the use of soap. A simply patch may often be cured by covering with a paste of soap and allowing this to remain over night. For this purpose use common kitchen soap or what the druggist sells as "green soap" for it is the strong alkali in the soap that dries up the pimples. (Lesson I to be continued.)

of Granville, Misses Mary and Lena Jones of the home. The funeral services will be held at the Welsh Congregational church of Granville, Sunday at 1:30 o'clock. Interment at Welsh Hills cemetery.

Grace Adelle Castner.
Death entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Castner, 112 South Fifth street, late Wednesday, claiming their seven-year old daughter, Grace Adelle, a pupil in the Hartzer school, after an illness of only a few days with diphtheria. The mother is ill with the same malady, and the father is now being administered heroic treatment in an effort to stay the disease, symptoms of which have already developed.

The one other member of the family, a younger child has shown no symptoms of the disease. Owing to the strict quarantine which has been necessitated, it is said, the family's plight is serious from the want of ordinary comforts. The cold weather has added to their misfortune, and danger of further illness with the dread disease is imminent.

The funeral of the little daughter was held under quarantine, Thursday and interment was in Cedar Hill cemetery.

James D. Webb.

James D. Webb, 56 a foreman in the lower machine shops of the B. & O. railway, died in his home, 378 Baltimore street, at 2 o'clock Thursday morning after an illness of one week. The funeral service will be held in the residence at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The service will be public and friends of the family are invited to attend.

Mr. Webb was born in Mary Ann township, this county, in 1857, and removed to Newark in the fall of 1890, where he resided ever since. Besides the widow, he is survived by two sons, J. B. and C. W. Webb, and one daughter, Zana P. Church, all of Newark. There are four sisters and one brother; Katie Wagenhall, Columbus; Emma Coon, Hanover; Julie Robinson and Shelle Smith, Newark and John R. Webb, of Hanover.

William Henry Wright.

Pleasant Bryan Wright.
William Henry Wright was born near Frazzysburg, Ohio, October 21, 1841, and departed this life at his home in Frazzysburg, Ohio, January 22, 1914, aged 72 years, 3 months and 1 day.

Pleasant Bryan was born near West Carlisle, Ohio, June 27, 1848, and departed this life at her home in Frazzysburg, Ohio, January 22, 1914, aged 65 years, 6 months and 22 days.

Mr. Wright and Miss Bryan were united in marriage November 6, 1868. One daughter, Mrs. Joseph Little of Newark, Ohio, came to bless this union.

For over forty-five years they walked down life's pathway together sharing each others joys and sorrows and always happy in each others love. We cannot understand the mystery of their tragic death, but it is beautiful to think that after so long and happy a married life they were not separated in death.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wright have spent most of their lives in Frazzysburg, and have won the confidence and respect of all who knew them.

They leave to cherish their memories their only daughter, Mrs. Little of Newark, Ohio, three grandchildren, two brothers and one sister of Mr. Wright, three brothers and four sisters of Mrs. Wright, and a wide circle of relatives and friends. Precious memories of their life will linger with these friends and loved ones until death shall reunite them in that realm where all mysteries shall be cleared away. 12-14

LITTLE DISCUSSIONS OF LOVE AND MARRIAGE

BY BARBARA BOYD

The Old and the New.

"Don't you think that Mrs. Lincoln—and I don't mean just the individual Mrs. Lincoln, but Mrs. Lincoln as the wife of Abraham Lincoln—filled a useful niche in life and performed a necessary work?" inquired the Bachelor.

"I don't know very much about the lady," rejoined the Bachelor Girl warily, knowing the Bachelor's sociable methods of reasoning. "I am not biographically inclined, you know. But I haven't any doubt but that her life as she lived it was of value to the world."

"And don't you think that the mother of Abraham Lincoln—that is the one who brought him up—also did a good service for mankind?" pursued the Bachelor.

"The mother of Lincoln must have been a dear," warmly responded the Bachelor Girl. "And it must have been a joy to bring up a boy like him."

"Well then, gleefully concluded the Bachelor, "don't you think that wives and mothers are an important part of the community, and that their services are just as necessary to the social order, and just as important, as those of women who develop their own individuality and pursue the free and unhampered life, as is so much harped on today?"

"Of course I do," replied the Bachelor Girl, her eyes wide with amazement. "Whatever made you think I didn't?"

"But you are always saying that women who are shut in the home, and who live the narrow life of the housewife, are not just to themselves or the community, and that they can do more good for society and themselves, by being in touch with the world, and the life of the times, and in step with progress, and so on."

"But you confuse the points at issue," said the Bachelor Girl, earnestly. "I do think that woman has her share to do in making a home. I believe firmly in the home. And you can't have a home without a woman. But 'the world do move,' and so our concept of the home and of woman's place in it must move also. The trouble is that most men still look on the home and woman's place in it, with the eyes and beliefs of a hundred years ago. Woman has progressed, and these old notions do not appeal to her. Consequently, you have the picture of a man trying to invite the modern woman into the home and its traditions of a past century. And the woman balks. Mrs. Lincoln, mother and wife, filled the positions of their times beautifully. They lived up to the standards of their day. Few women probably ever lived life more fully and nobly than did Lincoln's mother. But would you have the women of today, in order to do their duty as wife and mother, live in log cabins and cook over a camp fire, practically, and so on? Not a bit of it. The women of today want to live their lives on a level with life as it has developed today. And a momentous treadmill of cooking and washing dishes and asking hubby for money is no part of it. A man doesn't neglect his duties as husband and father because he lives the life demanded of a man by the civilization of today. And when a woman can, as wife and mother, live as freely and individually the life of the times as does a man, and when home life is so adapted to modern demands that she can, you will see her just as joyfully walking to the altar as she ever did. She is only holding back now because man, in his notions of what the duties of wifehood and motherhood and the care of a home are, is still holding to the standards of the last century."

The Bachelor Girl was quite breathless. The Bachelor moodily toyed with a paper knife and said nothing. Whereat, seeing his gloomy countenance, the Bachelor Girl began to get busy with her chafing dish.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat which clogs kidneys then back hurts and bladder bothers you.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally. Else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleepless and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

CITY AGAIN VISITED BY COLD SNAP

With temperature ranging from 5 to 10 degrees above zero in various parts of the city early today, Newark people again suffered from a shortage of the gas supply. The pressure was low in many parts of town but the failure was not of sufficient consequence to cause anything but a slight inconvenience and delay in preparing the meals. The absence of wind made it possible to heat most houses over with the limited gas supply.

The weather man promises snow tonight and Friday.

"GEORGIA DAY."
Georgia Day will be celebrated today in the Empire State of the South, commemorating the landing on Feb. 12, 1733, of the first colonists under the leadership of James Oglethorpe. Georgia was born of the spirit of liberty—with a string to it. All lands between Savannah and Altamaha, and westerly from heads of said rivers in a direct line to the South seas, including islands within twenty leagues of the coast" were set aside for establishing the colony of Georgia in America, where free citizenship and free exercise of religion were offered to all indigent persons who would be willing to earn a livelihood in the colony if provided with a passage thither and means of getting settled—except that "Baptists" were excluded from sharing in the blessings of "free exercise of religion."

Oglethorpe was a man of noble impulses, and, seeing the prisons full of debtors and the unorthodox in faith persecuted by the powerful, he determined to found in the New World a refuge for the "under dogs" of European humanity. The ship Ann, in command of Capt. John Thomas, with Oglethorpe, the Rev. Henry Herbert, and thirty-five families on board, landed at Yamacraw Bluff, on the south side of the Savannah river, the present site of the city of Savannah, on Feb. 12, 1733. They obtained permission from the Creek Indians to establish a settlement. Mary Musgrave, an Indian woman who had married a white trader, acted as interpreter in these negotiations.

Make This and Try It for Coughs

This Home-Made Remedy has no Equal for Prompt Results.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually conquers an ordinary cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, spasmodic croup and bronchitis. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

This makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in gualacal and other natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this plan. Making cough syrup with Pinex and sugar syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often imitated. But the old, successful mixture has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

NEWS OF TOWNS NEAR NEWARK

CHARDON, O., Feb. 12.—Father, which is the easiest way to die, chloroform or carbonic acid? asked George Roper, 20, of his parent, Frank Roper, Baltimore and Ohio railroad foreman here yesterday. "Chloroform," said the parent, without giving the matter a second thought. Late last night George's brother, Lawrence, found the lad moaning and unconscious in bed and discovered an empty chloroform bottle on the dresser. Two doctors were called but the young man died early today. No motive for the suicide is known. The boy worked with his father, had drawn his pay yesterday, at which time he said he was $1.50 short and had appeared as usual.

LIMA, O., Feb. 12.—As the result of an oil stove explosion in the home of Clarence Hurdle, Wayne and Union streets, early this morning, Hurdle was fatally burned. Charles Knuckles, a boarder, is seriously injured and Mrs. Ida Knuckles suffered from cuts received when she leaped through a window to escape the flames. The fire was confined to the second floor of the building with a loss of $1,500.

HAMILTON, O., Feb. 12.—One man was killed and five were injured, two probably fatally when a taxicab, owned and driven by William Miller, ran into a switch engine on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad at a street crossing here today. Roy Stillwaght of Lindenwald, near Hamilton, was killed, while Roy Conlin and Ernest Geyer, both of Hamilton, were seriously injured.

Coffee vs. Postum

Any analytical chemist can prove by analysis, that coffee contains two harmful drugs—

Caffeine—an alkaloid that irritates the heart, liver and kidneys, and upsets the nerves.

Tannin—a drug which produces an astringent action upon the tissues of the stomach and bowels.

But the greatest test of all is made in thousands of homes where it is daily proven by personal experience that headaches, biliousness, indigestion, heart irritation and nervousness are very often caused by coffee drinking.

An ordinary cup of coffee contains about 2 1-2 grains of caffeine, and 2 2-5 grains of tannin.

Some coffee consumers have tried in various ways—without much success—to rid coffee of its caffeine, because they know its harmful effects. Now they are agitated because people are objecting to the presence of tannin in coffee—the same element (but obtained from bark) that is used to tan leather.

The simple, easy way out of coffee troubles is to quit this harmful beverage and use the pure food-drink

POSTUM

It is absolutely free from those drugs or any harmful substance. Made only from prime wheat (cracked) and a small percent of molasses. Postum contains the rich, nutritious values of the grain—is a genuine food-drink

Postum comes in two forms

Regular Postum—must be well boiled 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder. A teaspoonful stirred in a cup of hot water, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

BURGLAR RANSACKS MITCHELL HOME IN GRANVILLE STREET

By smashing a pane of glass in a window at the home of A. S. Mitchell, 53 Granville street, a burglar entered the home Wednesday, ransacked the house from cellar to garret and got 7 cents for his trouble. The burglar worked in the absence of both Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell. Mr. Mitchell was a guest at the bar banquet while his wife attended church services at the Methodist church. Upon returning from church, she saw that some one had entered the house in her absence. She called her husband by telephone and awaited his coming in the home of a neighbor. Besides the few pennies which were in a mite box, nothing of value was missed.

EIGHT CASES OF DIPHTHERIA QUARANTINED

With eight cases of diphtheria under quarantine by the Newark health department, and one death from the disease, Wednesday afternoon, an epidemic is said to be threatening. Dr. W. H. Knauss, health officer, announced Thursday the quarantine would be lifted from two families, leaving six cases, covering the report made to the health officer two days ago.

In view of the fact that it takes about one week for diphtheria exposures to develop into well defined symptoms of the disease, it is not unlikely that several new cases may develop within the next few days from past exposures.

While none of the public schools has been ordered closed within the past two weeks, it may be that such a precaution will be found necessary. Teachers in the public schools have been instructed to use strict precaution in all cases of sore throat brought to their attention.

The health department is closely watching reported cases of chickenpox. Neighboring counties have discovered several cases of smallpox and every means is being employed to prevent its appearance here.

MRS. WILLIAMS' LONG SICKNESS

Yields To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elkhart, Ind.—"I suffered for fourteen years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanative Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me.

"If these lines will be of any benefit you have my permission to publish them."—Mrs. SADIE WILLIAMS, 455 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

PRES. WILSON RECEIVES THE BOY SCOUTS

[Associated Press Telegram]

Washington, Feb. 12.—More than 100 boy scouts and scout masters gathered here today for the fourth annual session of the National Council of Boy Scouts of America. One principal feature of the first day's program, a reception and an address by President Wilson in the east room of the White House was abandoned at the last moment because the president was confined to his room with a cold. The morning session was taken up with reports of officers and the afternoon program was re-arranged to go on without the march to the White House.

It was arranged later for Secretary Bryan to greet the Boy Scouts and their officers in the White House and convey to them the president's message of welcome.

Mrs. Wilson welcomed on five boys' eagle badges, the highest honor which the organization confers on its members.

ELK MINSTRELS WILL ATTRACT LARGE CROWDS

Elk minstrelsy in Newark in the past two years has been synonymous first, with real pleasure and entertainment, and second, with success, and this year the show being prepared for next week gives promise of being the peer of all its predecessors.

The greatest of interest is being manifested by the Newark people and great numbers of tickets have been purchased here, but the interest is not confined to Newark by any means, because inquiries have been received from the adjoining cities and a number of tickets have been sold. There will be theater parties on both nights of the performance from Columbus, Mt. Vernon, Zanesville and Coshocton.

The experience obtained in the production of the show in the two years past can but serve to make it better each year, and this year quick and perfect work has been obtained under the skilled instruction of a competent director. The first part will be a kaleidoscope of coloring, handsome costumes, intricate drills and delightful vocal numbers. No effort has been spared to give precision and worth to every atom in the minstrel show.

The second part will be made up of high class vaudeville acts, two of which are professional. Of these the Marmeen Four will present an act beset with interest and originality, it being a distinct change from the old quartet idea. The four is made up of two men and two women, and they introduce duet, trio and quartet selections in various character changes. The act is divided into five parts, the first being given by the four Marmeenes, then "In Farm-land" by the company with acrobatic dancing and instrumental selections. The third is entitled "In Deutschland," fourth "Daisy Time," and the finale "In Old Madrid." The electrical effects and costumes are especially attractive.

Another act is fraught with much pleasure for Newark music lovers, for all remember the beauty of the voice possessed by Harvey Moore, an old minstrel soloist. Mr. Moore always shows great insight in the selection of his songs, and the beautiful quality of his voice makes possible their perfect rendition. Aside from his solo work Mr. Moore will be seen with Harry Shunk, comedian, in a clever act prepared especially for the Newark show. Mr. Shunk has appeared before Newark audiences in the past, and his work as a monologist has been most successful.

The minstrel dates are Thursday and Friday evenings, Feb. 19 and 20, and the reserve seat sale will open on Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

Theaters

Mutt and Jeff. Music of the tilting kind, pretty girls, a play that is bound to interest as well as thrill, songs that appeal, surprises and lots of novelties are promised in the latest "Mutt and Jeff in Panama," which will be the attraction at the Auditorium on Saturday matinee and night. This season Manager Guss Hill has surrounded Bud Fisher's popular cartoon creations with an entirely new setting and one calculated to make theatergoers sit up and take notice. The most beloved and withal admired of all humorous cartoon characters are to appear in what must be termed a musical comedy with melodramatic trimmings. They are more ubiquitous than ever and their adventures are attended with the most mirthful and side-splitting results. For three acts and three scenes they dominate things, making life one merry song and whirl and winding up where they left off a couple of ne'er-do-wells, who find this mundane sphere a place where sorrow and dull care have no right to abide. Owen Davis is the author with Will H. Cobb and Leo Edwards responsible for the "words" and "tunes." Sears is now selling for both performances.

"Traffic in Souls." The Advocate critic had the following to say about "Traffic in Souls" when shown at the Auditorium a few weeks ago: "It is not a pretty story at all that the special Universal film, 'Traffic in Souls,' tells at the Auditorium but what is more to the point, it is an interesting story and one which causes the spectator deep thought and careful consideration."

There are six reels and each one is fraught with as much interest as its predecessor. The workings of the evil to slaves in the cities are shown, how foreign girls coming to this country disappear and are never heard of again, how country girls are met at the station ostensibly directed to their destination only to end their lives in dens of iniquity. A pleasing love story relieves the tenor of the story and the majority of the scenes are well placed. The film is very clear and the climaxes are so well developed that at no time, was there a lack of interest on the part of the audience.

It is a picture with a lesson.

This great wonder film will be shown at the Auditorium for a return engagement of three days starting with the matinee Sunday.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin." One of the prettiest and truest-to-nature stage pictures ever created is the cotton picking scene in the ever-popular production of Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which is to be seen Friday matinee and night at the Auditorium. It is a true facsimile of an ideal home on the Red river, the setting having been constructed and painted from actual photographs secured by Manager Leon Washburn. Mr. Washburn is most exacting, even in the most minor details of a production. Where another manager would be contented with paper mache plants, Manager Washburn must have the real article. He engaged the services of a chemist who finally produced a shellac by the use of which the cotton plant may be preserved in its natural state indefinitely. The several hundred plants used in the Stetson production are exactly as they were when removed from a Louisiana plantation in the height of the cotton picking season. Words utterly fail in even faintly depicting this beautiful picture. It must be seen to be appreciated. Seats now selling.

HIDDEN DANGERS

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Newark Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are weak. Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Disordered kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, suggest weak kidneys and in that case warn you of the danger of dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills are endorsed by thousands. Here's Newark proof:

Mrs. James Donnelly, 19 W. Harrison St., Newark, Ohio, says: "One of the family suffered a great deal from kidney trouble and backache. He used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from A. E. Crayton, Co.'s Drug Store, and they made him well."

REINDEER LODGE WAS TENDERED FINE BANQUET

Following the meeting of the Order of Reindeer, Wednesday night, a surprise was sprung on the members when the new banquet hall was opened and an elaborate lunch was offered the gathering. The spread was tendered by H. C. Seodino, secretary of the lodge, and manager of Beckman's Sample Shoe store, and was prepared and served by Charles Dean. The usual informal program of songs and talks followed the lunch. Important business to the lodge was transacted during the lodge session.

TROOPERS SEARCH

He arrived ahead of the reinforcements and lay in a ditch from which he says he saw the detachments of about 15 men each make a rush toward the river. When the other soldiers arrived they had disappeared and while there was bright starlight, it was still too dark to trail the fugitives.

All night the Americans searched among the bushes and stunted cottonwood trees, which dot the sandy plain, and watched the three principal fords between Ysleta and Socorro, a hamlet three miles east of Ysleta but did not catch sight of their quarry.

To all appearances the latter had escaped. According to Mrs. O'Neill and the few citizens who could be routed from their beds last night, strange Mexicans had been collecting there since Tuesday. They straggled in, in ones and twos and threes and were reticent about their business. Refugees are not uncommon in this part of the country, but the number was unusual.

General Francisco Villa, commanding the rebel forces and now at Juarez, received an intimation of the situation at Ysleta early in the evening and sent small detachments of his men east along the Mexican bank of the river to capture the invaders.

They did capture ten men but six of these proved to be harmless peons and the other four were held for further investigation. Villa during the night sent out reinforcements and as they are mounted, he said today that they should not have great difficulty catching up with the dismounted recruits. A report that horses are waiting for the latter on the Mexican side proved unfounded. The animals seen on the other bank numbered but few and evidently had strayed from some ranch to the river for water. General Villa said he hoped the recruits go across the river, for if the Americans captured them they would only be imprisoned while he could shoot them.

"But I'm glad they did not get away with the horses," he exclaimed. "Good for the Americans; I am for them."

The movement of the automobiles constitutes one of the mysteries of the night. Every road into El Paso was watched after the alarm was given, but no persons were caught, although there were those who insisted that there were many machines and that most of them carried armed men. There is direct evidence of only those seen by Mrs. O'Neill.

The troops called out last night were A and B of the Thirteenth cavalry, and C and D of the Fifteenth. A and B were commanded respectively by Captain A. H. Davidson and Captain Hamilton Bowie. Captain Barnhart of Troop D, posted detachments at the fords of the river, but the stream, a much more trivial affair in breadth than it appears to be on the maps, can be crossed in many places.

Captain Davidson, as senior captain, was in command. In an adobe hut which formed part of the corral at Ysleta he found a large stock of saddles which apparently were new. There were also a number of new bridles and blankets. One of the saddles was attached to a box full of fuses. These suggested that the recruits, if such they really were, had in mind the destruction of the railroad south of Juarez in order to delay the movement of additional troops south for the impending attack on Torreon.

Provisional President Huerta is said to be reinforcing that garrison as fast as possible and every day that the attack is delayed is of value to him.

CHICK BROODER PRIZE IN BOOKLOVERS' CONTEST

Every chicken fancier will be interested in the prize that comes from Kent Bros., the well known seedsmen and florists, at 20-22 West Church street. It's the famous Mandy Lee Chick Brooder and cost $13.00. Its capacity is 100 to 150 chicks and it is equipped with thermometer, lamp, chimney, drinking fountain, etc. It weighs 120 pounds, is 60x30x17. The floor space required is 60x38. The great brooder idea lies mainly in the hover—all the other features—the glass top feeding compartment, the covered runway at the back, etc., are mere incidentals to more fully utilize the direct contact heat principle. Kent Bros. have most successfully conducted their feed and flour store for more than seven years, dealing in incubators, brooders, feed, grain, baled hay and straw in one department and in the other seeds, cut flowers and potted plants. This brooder is one of the many fine prizes given in The Advocate Booklovers' Contest.

ATTORNEY GENERAL

To Mr. Kibler and his associations with him. Toastmaster Norpell, when he introduced the first speaker on the regular list of toasts, broke out in poetry before he concluded, and while the meter might be criticised, the ideas which he whipped into poetical form were so clever, that his abuse of poetic license was overlooked. He "hoped we'd be wiser after hearing Mr. Dizer," and connected "brogan" and "slogan" with Hogan in a manner which brought a laugh and round of applause. Mr. Norpell said:

There was a time when it would seem rather queer. To sit at a banquet without any beer. When even a man as sober and temperate as Fitz. Would expect a bottle of blue ribbon or a schooner of Schlitz.

When we thought it was foolish and vain. To try to be funny without the sparkling champagne. When it was regarded as almost a sin To ask a man to sit at a banquet without gin.

When our guests would turn perfectly pale. If asked to speak without any ale. When without wits we never could be handy. Without two or three drinks of some kind of brandy.

But gentlemen it is not simply fine. To be able to have a bar banquet without the stimulus of wine. To have a feast of reason and a flow of soul. That comes from the heart and not from bowl?

Why should we depend on Rock and Rye sir. When of wit and wisdom we have a veritable geyser. In the person of our honored guest, Representative Dizer.

And gentlemen, I hope you will forgive "me Brogan." When I suggest let this be our slogan. We need no wine when we have Timothy Hogan.

So unfasten your collars and loosen your girth. And prepare to enjoy this season of mirth.

Judge John M. Swartz of Granville, who practices law here, was assigned to discuss "Judge Kibler—An Appreciation." He read a letter of greeting from Judge Kibler to the bar association, written at Crescent City, Fla., in which Mr. Kibler told of the delights of the South.

The speaker gave a short sketch of the life of the distinguished jurist, detailing his steady advance in his profession and the success with which he met in his practice. His entire address was an appreciation of the legal, judicial and military career.

Hon. James R. Fitzgibbon, one of the most brilliant of the local attorneys, spoke on "Laws, Just Laws." His address indicated that he thought most of the laws which were written in the statute books were anything but "just laws." "Some one invented the word progress," he declared, "and it was taken up and applied to government affairs, and then the legislator came into his own. We have been buried under an avalanche of laws ever since. We are getting away from every sane notion in relation to law making and too much play is given to the visionary, the dreamer and the radical. We are living in an era of hysterical legislation, but it is to be hoped that the end is near. I hope for legislative peace and trust it will come soon."

Oscar E. Dizer, one of the out-of-town guests, a member of the legislature, discussed "Are We Governed Too Much?" He admitted that an affirmative answer was the only one possible to give to the question.

If it were possible," said Mr. Dizer, "to answer the question in two words, I would be compelled to say that we are. But I take it that I am expected to say a little more than that."

Despite the safeguards with which legislative operations are surrounded, many useless and selfish laws are enacted. The Ohio general assembly passed a law requiring lawyers to register and pay a fee of $100 for the privilege of practicing law during the regular session of the general assembly, but it is a fact that the special session about a year has not seen a single registration of a lobbyist.

"Many laws are dead letters because of the manner in which they are enacted. Nine-tenths of the legislation enacted is purely selfish. The laws apply either to a certain community or an individual. Such laws are made possible by a system of trading between representatives in which the support of the various legislators is traded for that of their brothers, for their selfish laws. The Eightieth general assembly, of which I was a member, enacted a thousand pages of laws. Some of them were good, most of them were bad. I recall two laws passed which, in my opinion, are good laws. They are the workmen's compensation act and the two-thirds jury law. If there are any other laws enacted by that session I do not now recall what they are.

"Before the Workman's compensation act was passed, Ohio manufacturers paid out three millions of dollars a year for indemnity. One million dollars of this sum came back to injured workmen, only where it was clearly shown that the accident was due to contributory negligence on the part of his employer. Under the present law the workman is properly compensated without the necessity of a law suit. "I am aware that most of you attorneys will not agree with me when I say that these are good laws, for there is no question but that it will remove sources of fees for attorneys."

"The greatest fault with the legislature does not lie with the representatives from the country districts. It is the city legislators who are inefficient. Representatives from cities like Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati, are elected at large and are too often the tools of political rings. When I favored a short ballot which would divide these cities into as many districts as there are representatives, I was told by one of the city delegates that he was opposed to it. "I couldn't get a dozen votes in my ward," he said.

"As many laws are written into the statute books by the judiciary as by the legislature. I don't know but what it would be well to adopt the method of the ancients and burn all the laws and go before the courts on the justice and merits of our cases."

"In my opinion, the remedy lies in the recall, not only for the judiciary but for all public officers. I would fix the percentage of votes on recall petitions so high that such action would not be attempted without just cause. Is there any real reason why any official should be afraid of the recall."

"Yes, we are governed too much. The remedy lies in the cleansing of the legislature and the regulation of the judiciary."

J. Henry Miller spoke on "The Dignity of the Law." He declared the law to be a dignified profession. He discussed at some length the law as a career and drew comparisons with other professions.

Attorney General Hogan was introduced as the best advertised official in the state. Before he entered the discussion of the subject assigned to him, "The Legal Profession," he paid a beautiful tribute to Judge Kibler. He stated that Judge Kibler was a good lawyer almost as much in Jackson county as he was in Licking county. "If every lawyer would do as he did," said Mr. Hogan, "the legal profession would exercise a much wider influence."

Among the points he discussed were the law's delays, the unjust criticism of the courts, the newspaper criticism of the judiciary and legislative branches of the government and the seemingly indifferent manner in which the bar as a body regarded criticism directed to it.

"There is no justification in the complaint against the law's delays. The best lawyers are always busy and he often finds that his attendance is required in two different places at the same time, which of course is impossible."

Taking a cue from the newspapers in the large cities, Mr. Hogan said "the editorial writers are doing the framing of the laws. It is a fact that the best informed editors on governmental affairs, are found in the smaller cities and even the village but no man is intelligent enough to write daily on such subjects. The frequently legislative editor is a caustic pen of an editorial writer."

It is important that the lines defining the province of the legislative, judicial and executive be clear. If it were not so, I would have a constitution in which these branches of the government could not step into the domain of the other."

The speaker declared the custom

Readers' View Point

I have read the article in the Newark Advocate, written by Rev. Fr. B. M. O'Boylan about the Menace and other publications, the business of which is to expose the evils alleged to exist in the Catholic hierarchy.

I admire Mr. O'Boylan for taking a stand in defense of the church which he represents. It is the manly thing for him to do.

No true shepherd could remain inactive and be loyal to his flock under a bombardment of such a character. I am a Protestant and believe in fair play and a square deal. We have read a great deal about the infamy and cruelty of the Catholic church, and if what has been read and heard is not true, and the Catholic priesthood is even on a par with Protestant ministry, morally, they have been most wretchedly maligned, and an early investigation and final vindication would bring joy not alone to the sincere laity of the Catholic church, but to all lovers of justice.

This question can never be settled with carnal weapons. The sword of truth must be the final arbiter.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL

plan being for a seated figure placed well in the back ground of the largest chamber. The sculptor has not yet been selected. This chamber will be unoccupied by any other object that might detract from the effectiveness of the statue and the visitor will be alone with it.

The smaller halls at each side of the central chamber each will contain a memorial, one of the Gettysburg address and the other of the inaugural address, in bronze letters on monumental tablets, while adjacent low-reliefs will relate in allegory Lincoln's qualities as evidenced by those speeches.

While these memorials will be seen from any part of the hall they are to be partly screened from the central chamber by means of a row of Ionic columns.

Surrounding the walls inclosing these memorials to the man, is planned a colonnade forming a symbol of the union, each column representing a state—36 in all—one for each existing at the time of Lincoln's death. On the walls above the colonnade supported at intervals by eagles will be 18 memorial fountains, one for each state now existing.

By means of terraces the ground on which the memorial will stand will be raised until the building itself will be 45 feet higher than the present grade. First a circular terrace, 1,000 feet in diameter will be raised 11 feet above the present grade and on its outer edge will be planted four concentric rows of trees leaving in the center a plateau 755 feet in diameter—greater than the length of the Capitol. In the center of this plateau surrounded by wide roadway and walks will rise an eminence supporting a stone terrace wall fourteen feet high, 256 feet long, and 186 feet wide. On this terrace will stand the memorial building of white marble, its lines of pure Greek beauty reflected in the waters of the lagoon at the foot of the broad steps.

The movement for this Lincoln memorial was started in 1902 by the late Senator Cullom of Illinois, Lincoln's friend, who died only a few weeks ago, just too soon to enable him to see the fruition of his purpose. From 1902 until last year the plan was in progress, final action having been taken under another bill introduced by Senator Cullom in 1910. Various suggestions as to the form the memorial should take were submitted and considered, among them an arch on Meridian Hill, a memorial at Ft. Stevens, a memorial bridge to connect Potomac Park with Arlington Cemetery, and a government road to Gettysburg. At times there was considerable feeling displayed in the controversy.

It is noticeable that the site finally selected by the Commission of Fine Arts, the memorial commission and Congress itself, is the one first recommended by the park commission under the act of 1902. Many of the objections made at that time to the site have passed with the years. The city had not developed so far in that direction at that time, the site was not so easily accessible and the ground was much lower and more swampy.

The members of the Lincoln Memorial commission are: William H. Taft, chairman, Joseph C. S. Blackburn, recently appointed to fill the vacancy left by the death of Shelby M. Cullom; Joseph G. Cannon, George Peabody Wetmore, Samuel Walker McCall, Champ Clark, and Thomas S. Martin.
